Carlton Hotel St. Moritz launches exclusive Swiss experience with the Glacier Express

St. Moritz (19.02.2019) – As of 2 March 2019, the Carlton Hotel St. Moritz will be offering a highly exclusive Swiss experience with the Glacier Express: those who book the “Glacier Express – Excellence Class” special can enjoy a luxurious stay in the five-star hotel combined with a rail journey in the new premium carriage class of the Glacier Express, plus the option of an additional night’s stay in Zermatt.

The “Glacier Express – Excellence Class” offer of the Carlton Hotel St. Moritz combines a stay in the five-star hotel with a panoramic rail journey in the new Excellence Class of the Glacier Express. The stretch of railway between St. Moritz and Zermatt is one of the most impressive in the entire Alpine region: “the slowest express train in the world” passes through numerous tunnels and across proud viaducts on the UNESCO World Heritage Albula Line. The journey continues through the Rhine Gorge – often called the “Swiss Grand Canyon” due to its steep walls – as well as over the Oberalp Pass 2,030 metres above sea level. The new premium carriages will go into operation on 2 March 2019, setting new standards in quality and service: during the eight-hour journey, a Concierge will provide passengers with exciting information as well as serve an aperitif and a regional five-course menu with accompanying wines. Thanks to comfortable lounge seating, each passenger is guaranteed a window seat.

A suite or junior suite in the elegant Carlton Hotel St. Moritz is equally as luxurious: the hotel offers all the amenities of a five-star establishment, such as award-winning gourmet cuisine, a personal butler and a 24-hour Bentley limousine service. Guests can relax in the 1,200 m² spa or on the sun terrace overlooking the Lake of St. Moritz and affording a view of the surrounding Alpine landscape.

Carlton Hotel St. Moritz

The Carlton Hotel St. Moritz opened during the Christmas season of 1913 and was the fifth luxury hotel in the village of St. Moritz in the Engadine region. It experienced a golden age during the 1930s, with guests arriving from across the world. In 2007, the Kipp-Bechtolsheimer family, owners of the hotel, succeeded in bringing back the glamour and charm of this era following a complete renovation that lasted 18 months. Today, the Carlton Hotel is among the most spectacular hotels in Switzerland with its fantastic location at around 2000 metres above sea level and the breathtaking views out across Lake St. Moritz. “We strive to offer our guests a truly unique and wonderful experience – an escape from everyday life and a change of scenery with the very highest quality of service”, explains Philippe Clarinval, Hotel Manager, who has been running the hotel since last September. “When you run a luxury hotel, you have to be a passionate host.” By combining historical and modern elements and incorporating elaborate details of superior quality, interior designer Carlo Rampazzi succeeded in creating an atmosphere that not only allows guests to experience the luxury of a five-star hotel, but also invites them to explore a magical world of luxury, beauty and well-being.
